RECORD OF ESTRAYS
1856 – 1929
Superior Township, Washtenaw County, Michigan

Karl Williams, Plymouth, Michigan

When a horse or farm animal strayed or escaped its enclosure it was usually found by a neighbor and returned to the owner. In those cases when the owner was unknown a deposition was made with the township clerk regarding the finding of the animal, the purpose supposedly being to help locate the owner and to forestall a charge of theft against the finder. It was not recorded if the owner eventually was located. How the animal was dealt with is spelled out in the Estray Law, but the practical side of it is that if no owner was located the finder likely dealt with the animal as he saw fit. Strict compliance with Estray Law would have put quite a burden on the finder.

Contained in the archives of Superior Township is a bound volume measuring 7 ¾ inches by 6 3/8 inches entitled Record of Estrays. The first entry is dated October 4, 1856 and the last entry March 8, 1929. The book contains 124 pages of which 57 are utilized containing 73 entries, and was maintained by the clerks of Superior Township. All of the entries appear to have been made by the clerk or his deputy except for a few signatures of finders.

I have retained all of the creative spelling in the book but have used current convention for capitalization and punctuation to make for easier reading. There was some difficulty in deciphering some of the writing, a particular problem being the spelling of the names of some individuals. A question mark follows those names and words that I am unsure of. Parenthesis ( ) were used on occasion in the book so all of the clarifications that I have made are contained in brackets, [ ].

It is likely that all of the depositions were made by residents of Superior Township, most being property owners. These names may be useful for historical or genealogical research but the book itself contains no significant or unusual information other than the fact that in its entirety it is a wonderful artifact of the times.

INTERNET RESEARCH WITH MINIMAL DATA AND SURNAME CHANGES

Sam F. Heal, Sterling Heights, Michigan
SSHEAL@AOL.COM

Most everyone interested in genealogy is now aware of the Internet tools for doing research and its many valuable resources. I recently found a new technique (at least to me) for using it.

Sometimes in research there are changes in the surname. The "why" of most changes will probably never be known. In the case of immigrants from non-English speaking countries, perhaps it was making the name more "acceptable" or phonetically more pronounceable in English. It may be that the errors of record keepers were just accepted. This problem becomes more difficult when there is scant genealogical data available for research.

In my case it was researching back from Henry Strope born 15 September 1846 died 5 October1931 in Mecosta County, Michigan. He was my Grandfather and a Civil War veteran. Fortunately, my Grandmother, his second wife, gave me family history including some on Henry. I was pretty young but made some scribbled notes. She said that the name was Stroup at one time. I also had his Civil War papers (enlisted in Greenville) and his membership in the Greenville, Michigan, Masonic Lodge. I have the Mecosta County history book from Grandma but he was not in it. So it was off to Lansing. I checked Montcalm County (Greenville) and there was nothing in that book. Kent County is adjacent to Montcalm County so I checked that and found him in Spencer Township as a son of Henry Stroup and Mary Sanford.

Henry Stroup was born 1815 in Pennsylvania, was raised and educated in Seneca County, New York, the son of Michael and Sarah (Graves) Stroup, natives of Pennsylvania of English descent* and one of his Grandmothers, Amanda Whitmore, lived to the enormous age of 126 years. Hmmm! There was more but of little value genealogically speaking. Note that "where" in Pennsylvania was not given. With the assistance of the Genealogical Society of Washtenaw County I was able to find the burial site of Michael and Sarah with death dates and ages. I now had my Great-Great-Grandfather and Great-Great-Grandmother with calculated birth years. (Michael, born 1782, died 29 May 1851; Sarah, born 1786, died 19 November 1860.)

Seneca County, New York, had some info on the family as Stroup from the census but not much else. I started looking in Pennsylvania and did so for many years and could find nothing. I posted everywhere. I got replies from Stroups, Stroupes, Stroubs, Strouds, Stropes, Stroops, Strops, Straub, Strop, etc. Nothing seemed to connect. I downloaded every Gedcom I could find that had Stroup looking for a clue. I made at least two trips to the State Library in Lansing searching for more information without success. I did find where Michael failed to pay his land taxes and thus have the legal description of his property.

Last mid December I started to "neatize" the computer room files. Every Str. pile made me a little more irritated. With great determination and frustration, I decided to go online to every county website in New York and Pennsylvania searching for any Michael Str. variation data that might fit. I went at it all night long, napped on the couch and went back at it again.

After three days and nights, I found a Michael Straub who married a Sarah Grove 1806 in Buffalo Township, Union County, Pennsylvania! This was a great find as Michael and Sarah's age would fit. Note that Sarah's last name was Grove. I then started following the Grove line back and found that Sarah's mother was a Whitmore. No Amanda Whitmore from above but there was a Sarah A. With the Whitmore connection, I am fairly well convinced that this is my Michael and Sarah. To add to future confusion I found the Grove site with Grove (Graff). Whitmore was also given as Witmer and other variations. If this was recent genealogy, I would be totally convinced my ancestors were trying to befuddle or elude the IRS!!!!

I am writing this as my experience and technique may help others who have not run into the proverbial brick wall but one of reinforced concrete sheathed in armor plate. For instance, Smith, Smythe, Schmidt, etc. I wish I had thought of this method earlier. Incidentally, it is rather amusing reading about where Michael and Sarah were living. It appears that everyone in town had a distillery. Many were Revolutionary War vets and joined the Whiskey Rebellion when the Feds decided to tax liquor. They had to call out the Federal troops to put it down!!!!

In comparison, to do this research without the Internet, would require visiting every county in Pennsylvania. Perhaps Harrisburg State Library would have the same information but that would still be a daunting task searching on every variation of the Str. surname.

I now have the task of finding Michael and Sarah`s parents. Here in Michigan I want to determine the linage of Mary Sanford or Sandford born1810-1812, died 1916, buried in Spencer Mills Cemetery, Spencer Township, Kent County. All I have on her is (per Kent Co. History book and Grandma Strope) is that she was born in New York (Grandma said New York or New Jersey) of Scotch and English descent. I have a feeling that she is somehow related to Elijah Sandford of Washtenaw County. Both Elijah and Henry were in the lumber industry and the Stroups and Sandfords were neighbors in the Bridgewater area. The surname is pretty common as is the first name of Mary, so this is speculation.

*Research seems to indicate that Michael was German and Sarah was German or Swiss.
